

CULTURE SUSTAINABILITY REPORT

View your Culture through the UN 5Ps of Sustainable Development

The Barrett Culture Sustainability Report is based on the United Nations 5Ps for Sustainable Development. It provides insights into how well your current and desired culture aligns with your sustainable ambitions and the ability of your organization to contribute to building a better world.

What cultural strengths can you celebrate and emphasize? What limiting values are blocking your employees from fulfilling the organization’s strategy and purpose to make a meaningful difference to society and the environment?

Benefits of the Report

- Measure your cultural alignment, progress, and contribution to the UN SDGs
- Understand the cultural strengths and opportunities for development related to organizational sustainability
- Assess the underlying factors that allow you to contribute to societal and environmental sustainability
- Receive a road-map and dialogue platform to achieve long-term sustainability

The Culture Sustainability Report is delivered alongside the Barrett Culture Assessment, which provides detailed information for a deep dive into the values, culture, and humandynamics of your organization.

Barrett Values Centre offers a proven, comprehensive approach to culture and leadership development. Since 1997, we have helped thousands of leaders empower their people, perform at their best, and achieve their goals.

We wish to Acknowledge the UN and Wayne Visser for 5Ps of Sustainable Development and John Elkington for the definition of Sustainability. We are grateful to Wendy van Tol and Femke Helgers at PWC for their encouragement, support and cooperation in this development.
